DE REPUBLICA NON DESPERARE.

No. 98. PITTSBURGH, JULY 25, 1817. Vol. 32.

NEW LINE OF STAGES,

From Baltimore and Washing, ton city, to M'Connel's-town by way of Frederick-town, Hager's-town and Mercers-burg.

THE public are respectfully informed, that the stages from Baltimore and Washington city, commenced and will continue to run as follows, viz.—Leave GADSBY's hotel, in Baltimore and Washington city, both every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday, at four o'clock, A. M.—Leave Frederick-town at one o'clock P. M.—Arrive at Hager's-town at six o'clock P. M.—Leave Endos's hotel in Hagers-town, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at four A. M.—Arrive at M'Connelstown at eleven A. M.—When returning—leave A. LINDSEY's stage-office, M'Connel's-town, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, at four A. M.—Arrive at Hager's-town at six P. M.—leave Hager's-town every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at four P. M.—Arrive at Baltimore and Washington city, (both early) same evening. This arrangement is made in order to accommodate travellers who wish to go to Baltimore or Washington city, by that route. The accommodation to Washington city, are very convenient for travellers. They can, by entering at M'Connelstown, arrive at Washington city—in one day and a half—and to Baltimore in the same time.—Gentlemen travelling on horse back, who wish to take this way from M'Connelstown—can have their horses completely taken care of until their return. Travellers on this route, through so beautiful a country—will find every thing arranged to their satisfaction.

The stages built upon the most improved principle, are easy and commodious—the drivers sober, obliging and attentive—and horses well selected for their duty—uncommonly fine. The proprietors will pledge themselves that the public shall be fully accommodated. All baggage—parcels, &c. by the above stages—(let it be understood)—are at the risk of the owners.

Patent Trace Chain.

THE subscriber has invented and obtained a patent for cutting and bending links to make chain of different sizes.

Chain made of those links will have a superior advantage over the chain made in the common way as the iron is first drawn into a wire which makes each link of an equal thickness and more beautiful and strong than the common chain.

To the wholesale merchant they will be sold at 21 doll. per dozen. The links will likewise be sold to blacksmiths or others at 23 dolls. per hundred pounds with the necessary complement of rings, each chain requires six pound of links.

Orders accompanied with the cash will be promptly attended to by the subscriber at his works adjoining Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh, July 15, 1817. ——3

To Owners of Horses.

A NUMBER of the merchants of Philadelphia, desirous of promoting the internal intercourse of the state, and of facilitating their trade and connection with the western states, have united themselves into an association, under the name of "The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company." Their object is to reduce and equalize throughout the year, the cost of carriage, and to diminish the time now required, for the transport of merchandize to the western waters. They therefore purpose to establish Lines of Wagons, to start daily from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, to run day and night, changing horses every ten miles.

It must be evident to every enlightened person, that the success of the proposed system is most intimately connected with the interests of the whole community. It is important for the interiour of our state, that the trade of the western country should be maintained with the Atlantick cities; to secure which, the plan now contemplated, it is believed, will be effectual. A reduction in the rates, and in the time required for the transportation of Goods, to and from the Atlantick cities to the western waters, will enable the farmers and others to transmit their products to market with facility and cheapness, and procure a supply of foreign articles on more favourable terms. It will also increase the demand for horses, travelling, the value of lands, and in fine, add much to the improvement and importance of the towns and country on the route. Owners of horses, will find constant and profitable employment for them near their homes, which is surely preferable to uncertain employment at a distance.

PROPOSALS WILL BE RECEIVED,

For hauling the Wagons any number of sections of ten miles, each section, going and returning, to be performed within every twenty hours, and persons desirous of contracting will state the section or sections they will contract for.

The loading as far as Carlisle, will not exceed 4000 lbs. and from thence to Pittsburgh 3500, or 3200 when the roads are in a bad state.

The following conditions will be required.

1. Each contractor must give satisfactory security for the faithful performance of his contract.
2. Each contract must be for one year.
3. The contractor to be at every expense for his horses and driver, including the harness.
4. The Wagons must travel two miles an hour, changing horses every ten miles without any unnecessary delay.
5. The contractors will be accountable to the Company, for all delays or damages which may arise from fraud or mismanagement upon the road, embraced within their contract.

Turnpike and Bridge Tolls will be paid by the Company.

Application to be made by Letter as early as possible, directed to the Subscriber, agent for the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company in Philadelphia.

THOMAS HARPER,
AGENT for the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Transporting Company.

PORTRAIT OF A DEMOCRATIC EDITOR.

Drawn by himself.

Col. Binns, the Editor of the Democratic Press of Philadelphia, in his last paper complains bitterly of the manner in which he has been handled by certain editors in his neighborhood. He says he "has been made a target at which the barbed shafts of slander have been directed." That his "public and private life, and most innocent actions have been perverted and misrepresented. The basest forgeries have been resorted to. the foulest measures and the most profligate systems of falsehood have all been pursued. Principles in which he has delighted and does delight have been mocked at, and his sufferings in defence of those principles have been not only ridiculed, but charged upon him as crimes of the deepest dye. That his efforts to effect the emancipation and independence of his native country. Ireland, have been represented as treason and himself branded for having made them." And charged "as having been the tenant of twenty one jails," and as "a scape gallows.,' &c. &c. with many other the like good-natured accusations.

All this is very hard, we must confess, and coming, as it does, from the Colonel's old yoke-fellow in the field of republicanism, we presume it must increase his vexation and anguish. It is really an unfortunate circumstance for these "brethren of principle," to fall out with each other for they are sure to tell tales;" and it is still more unfortunate that they always have an abundance of them. However, notwithstanding the Colonel complains that his character has been so shockingly mangled, in the course of this article, he makes the following precious confession :—

"We wish to be distinctly and explicitly "understood as feeling an honest pride in "having suffered for the cause of freedom. "That we have been in common Jails and "in the Tower of London for our devotion "to Liberty is our pride and boast. That "we have for months together been obliged "to sleep in a cell not seven feet long nor "four feet wide, under a mandate from the "British secretary of state, because a corrupt Parliament had suspended the Habeas Corpus Act, is to us neither a source "of shame or sorrow. That we have been "twice tried for offences against the British government, for Sedition and for high "Treason, & that we have as often found "honest English Jurors who stood between "us and the cruel prosecutions of their "government by giving in a verdict of "" Not Guilty," gives us the purest pleasure."

Now for all this, Col. Binns may be a very upright, honest, capable, patriotic good sort of a man. For to accuse a man of being a "Traitor," a "Conspirator," or a "scape gallows," although he may have been in "twenty one jails," does not really make him such; and does not militate at all against a republican editor. But we should like to know how a FEDERAL editor would be received and treated in this country, who had been in jails and dungeons,—repeatedly arrested and tried for Treason, and at length compelled to fly his country;—That's all.—Albany Gaz.

From Niles' Weekly Register.

CAPTAINS HEATH AND PERRY.

We have a pamphlet entitled, "Serious charges against Captain Oliver H. Perry, of the United States navy, by John Heath, late captain of the marine corps"—and recently appointed consul at Teneriffe.

It is a rule absolute with me not to admit any thing of a private or personal nature into the pages of the WEEKLY REGISTER, though on one or two occasions I inadvertantly transgressed it. For several days I have had the question under consideration and am not yet able to resolve it, whether the contents of this pamphlet should be estimated as having a public or a private character. As the former, I would publish it though I had regarded those censured by it as demi-gods—as the latter, I would not give it a plaee if my own father were living and was the complainant.

The charges of captain Heath are really "serious," and severely affect the reputation of com. Chauncey and capt. Perry; the latter as a tyrant, and the former as conniving at a most flagrant abuse of authority. According to the narrative, (which is well written, and seems to be a plain statement of facts) captain P. without provocation, and impelled by the fury of passion, after the most insulting language, descended to *strike captain Heath, with his fist, in the cabin of the Java, and then ordered him to be confined in his state-room, with a sentry over him, where he was kept from the middle of September until the last of December, 1816, without trial, or being regularly charged with any offence, and then, a prisoner, asked by com. Chauncey for the charges that he intended to prefer against capt. P. It is, indeed, a most strange history—but it seems a court martial was at last held, by which each of them was sentenced to receive a private reprimand.

*For this capt. Perry, through capt. Crane and lieut. Macpherson, offered an apology, such as "was thought proper for capt. H. to receive and capt. P. to make,' —but capt. H. then confined by capt. P. would not accept it.

FOREIGN.

RUSSIA AND THE PORTE.

The Ottoman Porte is receiving into their service every foreign officer who is disposed to join the Turkish standard. The proscription decrees and discontent have already induced several to join the Sultan's forces and they are ordered to Smyrna to be organized. The Grand Seignor finds it necessary to attack Europeans with European soldiers and tactics.—The blow is probably meditated against Russia, and at length the mussulmen system of defence is to be abandoned, and instead of clouds of mamelukes, we shall probably see a Turkish army of infantry and artillery, under the command of christian officers.

The effect of this innovation on ancient usages and superstitious doctrines may be strange and unlooked for; and this association in arms of men whose religion differs so materially, may have a tendency to destroy that ferocious intolerant and despotic disposition of the Turkish rulers, and gradually awaken sentiments of generosity and philantrophy, which may tend to unite the civilized world with the descendants of Ismael, and ameliorate the condition of Mahometans, who groan under the yoke of oppression and ignorance.

It is surprising to contemplate the strongest of prejudices yielding to the attack of necessity. There was a time when a christian would have been considered as polluting the ranks of a mussulmen army, and when Dragut and Barbarossa would rather have lost a victory than have accepted of christian succour—now the Sultan Mahmoud invites them to join his army, and the country of Homer and the city of Constantine may owe a temporary preservation to their valour. This state of things has been gradually progressing since the French were in Egypt, and the Ottoman porte found it necessary for her preservation to accept of English succours against the foreign foe as well as the rebellious Pachas. This co-operation was found salutary; and now, when menaced with an attack from a neighbouring and more powerful quarter, they solicit the same aid. It remains for us to observe the joint movements of Russia and the Porte, as promising results peculiarly interesting.

Rheims, May 21.—Extraordinary Phenomenon.—Sunday had been rather stormy, the temperature hot to suffocation; the weather, however, cleared up towards evening and became calm, and about half past 11 there was observed in the sky circles of a purple red, which appeared the more striking from their being intersected by others of a deep dark colour. The red light reflected upon the tops of the houses, made the town look as if it was all in flames. This phenomenon ceased about midnight, but reappeared a little before day, in even a more extraordinary manner. The fiery circles discharged so vivid a light that the persons in the streets were terror struck:—some claps of thunder were heard, and immediately followed by an extraordinary fall of rain, during two hours. Many showers followed each other during the morning; when the sun appeared at intervals the heat was consuming. About half past two an extremely dark cloud appeared upon our mountains; it moved with inconceivable velocity from south to west; its noise is best compared to the rattling of a park of artillery driving at a quick trot over pavements.

Just above the town the cloud burst with a horrible crash; there fell during five minutes a mass of hail the like of which was never seen. In an instant all the glass of the windows facing the south were reduced to powder; several trees were torn from their roots, and the roofs of houses greatly damaged. Great fears were entertained that the country might have suffered from the hurricane, and that its ravages might destroy the harvest; which is so much wanted; but by a prodigious instance of good fortune, it passed a little beyond the limits of the town. The vegetable gardens round the town are wholly destroyed, and the tumbling down of bells upon hot beds has done some injury. We have to thank Providence for the escape of our vineyards.

CLERICAL SEDITION.

Among the arrests of the disaffected which have lately taken place in the United Kingdom, is that of the Rev. Neil Douglas, a minister residing at Glagow, in Scotland. He is accused "with wickedly, slanderously, falsely, and seditiously, in the course of the prayers, sermons, or declamations uttered by him, asserting and drawing a parallel between Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon and the King of England, who, he says, like the former, was driven from the society of men for infidelity and corruption; that his Royal Highness the Prince Regent was a poor infatuated wretch, or a poor infatuated devotee of Bacchus, who not having taken warning from the example of his father, would meet a fate similar to that of Belshazzar, King of Babylon, if he did not mend his ways and listen to the voice of the people." The Reverend Gentleman is also accused with calling the Honourable Members of the House of Commons thieves and robbers.

MODERN POWER OF MUSIC.

Being in the country one day (said Vigneui Marville, professor of music,) I had a mind to see whether beasts (it is commonly said of them) take pleasure in music. Whilst my companion was playing upon an instrument, I considered attentively a cat, a dog, a horse, an ass, a hind, some cows, some little birds, and a cock and hen which were in the court below the windows where we stood. The cat paid no regard to the music, and to judge by his physiognomy, he would have given all the symphonies in the world for a mouse: he stretched himself out in the sun and went to sleep. The horse stopped short before the window, and as he was grazing, he raised his head from time to time. The dog sat him down like a monkey, fixing his eyes stedfastly the musician, and continued a long time the same posture, with the air and attitude of a connoiseur. The ass took no notice us at all, munching his thistles very murely. The hind set up her large ears, and seemed to be extremely attentive. The cows gave us a look, and marched off. The little birds in a sung with the utmost eagerness; whilst cock minded nothing but the hens, and hens busied themselves in searching dunghill. The late Dr. Jortin who studied music, for relaxation from his laborious writings, on this description, said, "Imagine these creatures to be human, and will have no bad representation of any of our politest assemblies at a musical performance."

Bishop Warburton, was once in company with a militia officer who was fond showing his libertine sentiments against religion. Among other remarks, he said that nothing could show the want of faith more than prayer, and asked the Bishop what could be the meaning of the writers of the liturgy in drawing up this petition "Give peace in our time O Lord; because there is none other that fighteth for us, but only thou, O Lord." The bishop replied "I suppose it was when we had no standing army, but only THE MILITIA TO DEFEND US.

FROM THE CARLISLE HERALD.

A broad hint at the common practice.

The editor of the Herald will with pleasure, gratify the curiosity of any person who feels an unconquerable anxiety to see his paper, even though such person have never been his patron—provided however instead of begging of the boy, or stealing them from the tavern where they are left for country subscribers, or purchasing those of those unauthorized to make a sale, personal application is made at the office. The carrier of the Herald is not instructed to give away or to dispose of papers to any person whatever. Take the hint or depend on hearing from the PITTSBURGH.

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1817.

Many of the federal papers have expressed, in language not the most polite, their resentment at those editors who have taken an independent stand, and have refused to advocate the election of Gen. Heister.—To such gentlemen we can only reply, that we cannot pursue ourselves, a course which we have reprobated in others; and that we see no reason why an honest difference of opinion, and a candid avowal of it, should produce this bitterness of invective. We should be glad to hurl confusion upon the men who have dared, by means of a caucus to dictate to the people for whom they shall vote; we should be glad to see the corrupt influence of the office-holders destroyed; we should be glad to see an independent government; and if these ends will be accomplished by the election of Gen. Heister—and probably they may—we hope sincerely that he may be elected. But we cannot, like many of the federal editors, flatter men whom we do not love, and praise where we cannot admire; and if they think such conduct consistent, we can only say that we differ with them materially, and we would advise them, before they abuse the conduct of others to examine their own, and when they feel inclined to criticise, to avoid that violence of feeling and scurrility of language which many of them have adopted.

Escape of Criminals.—On Wednesday night last, six of the criminals confined in the gaol of this county, effected their escape, by breaking through the wall of the second story, whence they descended to the adjoining yard by means of their blankets formed into a rope.—Two were confined on a charge of murder, and four for larceny.

A reward of $100 is offered for their apprehension.

Communicated.

Pittsburgh, July 22.

Agreeably to previous notice, a numerous and respectable meeting of Democratic-Republican citizens of the city of Pittsburgh, friendly to the election of General Joseph Heister, and to an independent nomination, was held at the house of John M'Clintock, whereupon Gen. Thomas Baird was called to the chair, and A. Breckenridge esq. appointed Secretary.

The meeting being organized; after a free interchange of sentiments and opinions the following resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Resolved—That in as much as the constitution of this State, has provided no mode of nominating candidates for elective offices, the framers intended that every man should be left to the freedom of his own choice; and we deny the right of any man or men to order an election at any other time, or for any other purpose than is designated by the laws of the state.

Resolved—That the system of intrigue and corruption exercised by Legislative caucusers, who, not content with a recommendation, have undertaken to nominate a governor; to declare themselves a regular party, their nominations regular, nearly equivalent to an election, and ordering the Republicans in this state to hold any man an enemy who favors opposition to their candidate: is a dangerous usurpation.

—That no alternative being left us, but of voting for Mr. Findlay and thus submitting to their dictation, or voting for Mr. Heister, and thus asserting our liberty of choice and our right to think and act inependently; we will support, and call on our fellow citizens to aid in the election of Mr. Heister, a soldier of the Revolution, a uniform republican, one of the framers of our constitution, and a faithful representative of the people.

Resolved—That without undertaking to nominate or dictate to the people, we will support such and only such men, as we think best calculated to promote the essential interests of the country, men of talents, and the means of public usefulness.

Resolved—That the present state of our country, presents an imperious call upon us to consult its welfare, and overlook the narrow feelings of party zeal.

Resolved—That as our object is to select men to different offices, men who can render the most public service, we shall look among our fellow citizens only for those who are the most honest and most capable.

Resolved,—that protesting against legislative caucuses, and conventions of office holders, we will assert our principles in defiance of their denunciations, and proscriptions, and appeal to the good sense of the country for their support, adopting as ours, the motto of our President, "principles and not men."

Resolved.—that the following citizens be appointed a committee of correspondence; Henry Baldwin, James Lea, John Spear, Thomas Engles, Walter Forward, Walter Glenn, Thomas Baird, George Boggs, John Osborne, J. W. Trembly, Peter Beard, A. M. Bolton, Thomas Fairman, John Gormly, A. Breckenridge.

Resolved, that we respectfully invite our fellow citizens throughout the county, to adopt such measures on the subject of the approaching election, as they may deem most expedient for ensuring a disinterested and fair expression of the public sentiment.

Resolved, that the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Pittsburgh Gazette, the Mercury, and the Commonwealth.

THOMAS BAIRD, Chairman.
A. BRECKENRIDGE, Secretary.

PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO BUNKER'S HILL.

The following is the ADDRESS presented to the PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES by the citizens of Charlestown, Mass. on his late visit to that ancient and respectable town:

"We have the honour, sir, in behalf of the inhabitants of Charlestown, respectfully to welcome you to this ancient settlement, which has once fallen a sacrifice to freedom, and still retains some vestiges of the revolutionary war, in which you engaged at an early period of life.

We cheerfully unite with our countrymen, in the expressions of esteem and confidence to which your illustrious character and station entitle you; and we rejoice that whilst your administration has commenced under such auspicious circumstances, we can anticipate its progress with public approbation, and its termination, with renown to yourself and prosperity to the nation."

To which the PRESIDENT was pleased to reply.—

"It is highly gratifying to me to meet the Committee of Charlestown, upon a theatre so interesting to the United States.

It is impossible to approach BUNKERS-HILL, where the war of the revolution commenced, with so much honour to the nation, without being deeply affected. The blood spilt here roused the whole American people, and united them in a common cause in defence of their rights—That union will never be broken.

Be pleased to accept my thanks for your kind attention on this interesting occasion."

We observe it intimated says the National Intelligencer, in one of the New-York papers, that WILLIAM LEE, esq. has received the appointment of Governor of the Mississippi (meaning we presume the Albama) Territory. This is incorrect. The Territory of Albama, as we have before stated, will not receive a separate government until the new state of Mississippi shall accept the terms of admission offered by Congress, and formally become a member of the Union. it is obvious, therefore, that no Territorial officers will be appointed for the Albama prior to that event.

A Quebec paper of the 3d inst. states that a difference has occurred between the American and British Commissioners under the Treaty of Ghent. "The Americans," adds the paper, "pretend to establish their boundary within a few leagues of the River St. Lawrence at Matane, carrying it up, still within a few leagues of the St. Lawrence, to the highlands in the rear of St. Thomas. On sailing up the St. Lawrence, or walking on the Citidel of Quebec, we might see the American flag waving on American territory! We should no longer have any land communication with our sister colonies of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. We trust our Commissioners will be firm and circumspect. The British pretensions go only to preserve, what we have always possessed, and which forms the true boundary in America between countries under separate governments, to wit: the height of land between the waters emptying WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE TERRITORIES.

Pernambuco evacuated by the Patriots.—A letter, dated at Pernambuco, the 25th of May, and received at Boston by the arrival of the brig Indus at Nantucket, states, that on the night of the 20th, (the port having been rigidly blockaded for 30 days by the Portuguese squadron from Rio Janeiro) the Patriot army evacuated the town, and proceeded Northwardly; and that the Sailors took possession of the place on the following morning. On the 22d the Portuguese army marched into town in two divisions, one of which immediately pursued the rout of the Patriot army. The custom house was again opened, and business had begun to resume its former character.

CHARLESTON, July 8.—A gentleman lately from Havanna, informs, that the Captain of the Spanish Government brig which in conjunction with a frigate, made a dastardly attack some months since on the U. S. schooner Firebrand, has been lately tried by a Court Martial, at Havanna, and broke—the captain of the frigate has been sent home to Old Spain, to take his trial, and there was no doubt would meet a similar punishment.

The Tunisian Corsairs.—In noticing the capture of several merchantmen in the English Channel, by Tunisian Pirates, the London Globe of the 28th of May, thus remarks.

"The extraordinary appearance of these daring depredators on our coast has excited great and general surprise. The visitation is, we believe, without a precedent. Cape Finisterre has been the utmost limit of their cruise on this side of the world until the present moment. Why they have ventured into these northern latitudes with craft ill fitted for these boisterous seas, & seamen ignorant of our coasts, may perhaps be explained by the recent arrangements made with the Barbary powers.—The Mediterranean had been long their cruising ground, and the commerce of its Islands and of the opposite coasts of Europe their prey. The little towns upon the coasts within this range, exposed to their attacks, lived in a constant terror. The approach of a Barbary corsair was the visit of a hawk pouncing upon a flock of tame fowl, with unrelenting talons. By the recent arrangements, however, all the little Italian and other States, have been released from the fell gripe of these marauders.—Their old cruising ground is converted into a reserve, and these poachers, living by plunder, are driven by necessity into new and hitherto unknown quarters in search of game. By their principles and practice they consider themselves in a state of war with every nation that does not conciliate them by some favour or cession. Denmark and Sweden at this moment submit to pay them a tribute. Accordingly, the aggressions and hostilities which they have hitherto exercised upon the little Italian States, they have now transferred to the little free towns in the northern Seas, the Oldenburgers, the Papingers, &c. This system, however, cannot be tolerated, and the arrangement made for the security of the commerce of the Mediteranean must be extended to that of the German Ocean. We trust that this will be effected without involving us in hostilities with the Barbary States."

Bullet lodged in the Brain.—In the memorable battle of Liepsic, a soldier received a musket-shot in the head, which penetrated within the scull, and could not be discovered. The soldier complained of constant and severe head-aches, and occasionally experienced epileptic fits. Eleven months after the infliction of the wound he died; and on examination the bullet was found completely imbedded in the substance of the brain.
